The media art work 'Tales from Frontiers' consists of video projection and soundtrack. The metal reliefs as a part of the visualization are based on the artwork 'Vision' by sculptor Jarmo Vellonen. The video images by media artist Marikki Hakola, the soundtrack by sound designer Epa Tamminen and music by Jone Takamäki launch a dialogue with reliefs, contemplating the perception and its interpretation. The audiovisual elements come forth, change and hide in the continuum of lights, shadows and tones of the video projection. Are the visual references of the reliefs signs of a life lived, pieces of a language long since disappeared, or the remains of structures mangled by war? 'Tales from Frontiers' invites the spectator to form one's own personal interpretation.
